

Chicagoland

Chicago Tribune Wednesday, August 5, 1987

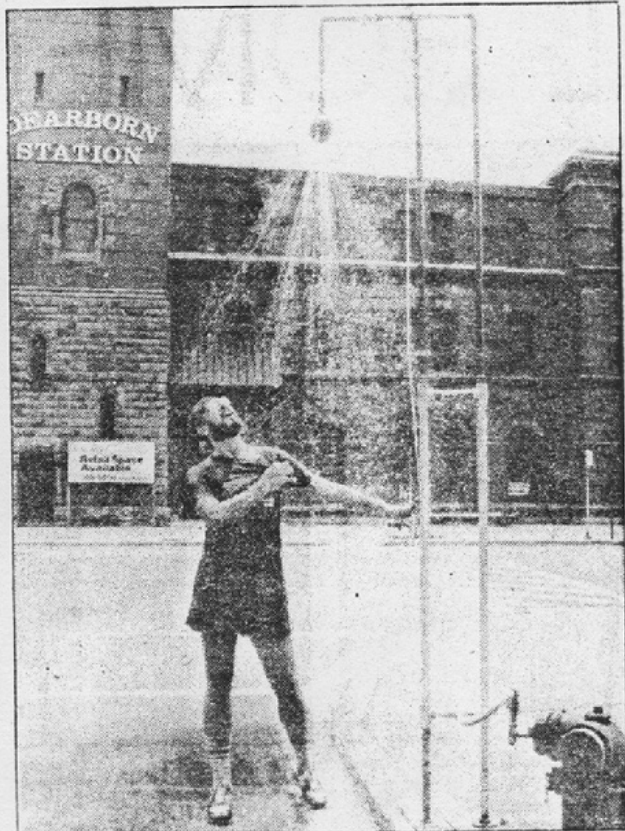

Tribune photo by Chris Walker

The art of hydrant tapping

Wayne Zebzda, of San Francisco, takes "A Very Public Shower," in his designated gallery, at Polk and Dearborn Streets. The shower is part of a public art exhibit that starts Wednesday to celebrate the fifth year of Sculpture Chicago.

CHICAGO SUN-TIMES, Thursday, August 6, 1987

SUN-TIMES/Kathleen Reeve

Refreshing art

Jogger Dale Raven uses a working exhibit designed by Wayne Zebzda of San Francisco at the Sculpture Chicago show to refresh himself during his noontime jaunt this week. The museum-without-walls exhibit, which opened Wednesday in Dearborn Station and on Printers Row—Dearborn Street from Congress Parkway to Polk—can be viewed daily from 9 a.m. to 7 p.m. until Sept. 25.